

Date: 28th January, 2025

To Whom It May Concern

I take pleasure in introducing Neelanjan Sarkar, whom I have known since 2022 as a student at our institute for his undergraduate program in Computer Science with Applied Mathematics. He has a good analytical mindset and a passion to learn new things and diligently implementing the concepts.

His interpersonal communication skills make his personality even more appealing. I have observed him interacting with colleagues and faculty members with ease, showcasing his adaptability quite well. He has the ability to deal with situations among groups or individuals and work towards finding resolutions efficiently. He is a good team leader and a team player.

Given an opportunity would enable him to grow in his academic career.

Sincerely,

Aman Samuel

Faculty

Department of Human-Centered Design

IIIT-Delhi

Member Center for Design and New Media (A TCS Foundation Initiative supported by Tata Consultancy Services)

<https://hcd.now.sh/>

Mobile: 9818102544

